EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The ability to stretch one's mind to meet and master challenges in our daily lives is essential to our well being. Fortunately, we are endowed with a mind that is malleable, with a brain full of chemicals that enable us to cope suitably with experiences pleasant or painful, feelings that satiate us with love, hate or apathy, anger or calm, that propel our thoughts and reactions towards enabling and ensuring equilibrium despite mood swings.

All easier said than done though, as mind and heart can be obstinate. Seeking to be the epitome of mental malleability is a slow, difficult process of managing margins within our range of responses to feelings that arise out of travail and turmoil or perhaps even tranquillity or solitude. Too much noise or too much quiet can both be unbearably deafening. Depends on our frame of mind at that moment.

There is a time for each. Controlling emotions, avoiding impulsive flare ups contrasted by maintaining stony silences, are learned through passage of years by discerning the better outcome, thus building malleable maturity in encounters with self or others. Know when to speak, when to stay silent. Think before either! Nurturing these habits is rewarding. Gentleness, understanding, empathy, sympathy, joy can be cultivated, as can resilience towards sudden bad news, relationship breakdowns, dystopic environments or natural disasters. Guarding against jumping to conclusions from hearsay or gossip gives a fillip to the elasticity of the mind, as fortunately it is capable of 'sifting the grain from the chaff.'

Assess all before taking a point of view, as ample examples of deviating a thought process, are always available in 'mob mentality syndrome', by which an influencer powerfully, persuasively, blinkers the individual thought process. Avoid!

Conquering these in a day is formidable task, especially as healing from unpleasant utterances, unpalatable behaviour, takes time. Acceptance empowered by adjustment in changing circumstances, is a gift of mental malleability. Co-ordinating these attributes help in countering hurdles which involuntarily intrude the mind, body and soul. The partnering of these three can deliver an alleviating approach to matters unwelcome. A spiritual dimension to our lives is empowering. All scriptures dwell on the power of the Almighty to guide our paths through adversities, carry us through calamities, assist us in dire circumstances, control our emotions and behaviour, for the better good of us, even if takes time. Mental Malleability pays off in the long run…

Museum of bunny related items earns world record

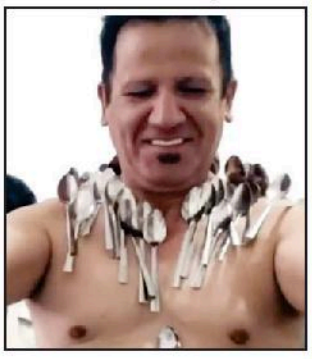
California: The owners of a California museum dedicated to all things rabbit-related earned a Guinness World Records title for their 40,550-piece collection.

Candace Frazee and Steve Lubanski of Altadena said their collection began in 1993, when Lubanski, who was affectionately known as Lubanski's "honey bunny," gifted her a white plush bunny for their first Valentine's Day as a couple.

The gifts kicked off a tradition for the couple of buying bunny memorabilia for one another and soon they were shopping for rabbit items together.

The museum's 40,550-piece collection was certified by GWR as the world's largest collection of rabbit-related items this year.

Man balances 88 spoons on his body



Tehran: An Iranian man broke his own Guinness World Record by balancing 88 spoons in various locations on his body.

Abolfazl Saber Mokhtari, 51, broke his own record of 85 spoons, which he set in 2021.

Mokhtari told Guinness World Records he decided to pursue the record for most spoons balanced on the body after a lifetime of sticking objects to his skin.

"I accidentally noticed this talent of mine when I was a kid," Mokhtari told GWR after his first attempt at the record was certified in January 2022.

He told the record-keeping organization his talent isn't limited to spoons. "Anything, I mean it, any object. Anything that has a surface I can stick to my body, such as plastic, glass, fruit, stone, wood and even a fully grown human," he said.

Parliament security breach

Mastermind Lalit Jha surrenders; might have burnt mobile phones

New Delhi, Dec. 15 (Agencies)- Lalit Jha, the alleged mastermind behind the Parliament smoke scare, surrendered to the Delhi Police yesterday, a day after five others were arrested following the massive security breach that shocked the nation.

Lalit Jha had been missing since the incident. He is from Bihar but was working as a teacher in Kolkata, the Police said. On Thursday, he turned himself in at a Police station at Kartavya Path near Parliament.

Jha was reportedly inspired by the legendary freedom fighter Bhagat Singh, according to the Police. Allegedly, he shot videos of the accused deploying smoke canisters outside the Parliament and handed over the footage to an NGO founder to ensure media coverage. The alleged mastermind was a general secretary of an NGO run by Nilaksha Aich, the founder to whom he had sent videos of the incident to ensure they were "safe."

Lalit Jha is described as a quiet man who used to teach local students. A few years ago, he came to Burrabazar in Kolkata alone and kept a low profile; he suddenly left the area two years ago, according to a tea stall owner in the neighbourhood who spoke to reporters.

Destroyed evidence

According to sources, Lalit Jha might have burned the mobile phones of four accomplices in a bid to destroy evidence. Jha claimed to have kept the mobile phones of the two men who deployed yellow smoke canisters inside the Lok Sabha, and the man and woman who did so outside Parliament.

Police sources said that Mahesh, the man who came with Jha from Rajasthan, was supposed to join the others in staging the smoke scare outside Parliament on Dec. 13. Mahesh, who had "full knowledge" of the conspiracy, is currently being tracked down.

After the incident on Dec. 13, Jha reached Kuchaman city in Rajasthan on a bus where he met Mahesh. He too was supposed to join the group, but couldn't make it after his mother stopped him. Investigation revealed that Mahesh, along with his cousin Kailash, took Jha to a dhaba and requested the owner for a room.

"The dhaba owner knew Mahesh and gave them a room. On Thursday morning, Jha, with their help, destroyed the phones. Mahesh and Jha then left, telling Kailash they were going to surrender before the Parliament, sources said.

Special shoes

The shoes in which the canisters were carried were reportedly custom made for Sagar Sharma in Lucknow, his hometown. The Police told the Court they intend to take him to Lucknow to identify the shop that made the shoes. The smoke canisters stuffed into the shoes were bought from Mumbai, according to the Police.

The smoke canisters used had 'Made in China' labels on them, and they had warnings against use in crowded or indoor areas. While not poisonous, the smoke may have harmed the health of the MPs and others, sources said. The Police had also claimed a "terrorist" angle to what they declared was a significant conspiracy.

Meanwhile, all the accused who were arrested have been sent to Police custody for seven days for questioning. Sagar Sharma and D. Manoranjan, who were caught inside the Lok Sabha and Neelam Devi and Amol Shinde — arrested outside Parliament — have to be questioned in detail, the Delhi Police contended. The Police have formalised the arrest of Lalit Jha and will be produced before the Court, seeking custody.

Lack of shoe checks in LS helped us sneak in canisters: Manoranjan

Manoranjan hosted Sagar Sharma at his house in Mysuru twice; neighbours often spotted him at local park

New Delhi/Mysuru, Dec. 15 (Agencies)- Mysuru resident D. Manoranjan, who gained entry to Lok Sabha with a pass from BJP MP Pratap Simmha, told the Delhi Police that he discovered in July that shoes were not inspected before entering Parliament. This information proved crucial for the group planning the security breach, as they concealed canisters inside shoes.

"In July, Manoranjan came to Delhi using a visitor pass. There, he learned that shoe frisking did not occur," revealed an officer involved in the investigations.

Despite security guards at outer gates later enforcing shoe removal, the revelation played a role in the breach.

Mysuru Police confirmed that Manoranjan had no criminal history, and there were no cases against him. As per Delhi Police, Sagar Sharma, another accused, had visited Manoranjan in Mysuru in May. Manoranjan and Sharma utilised the same pass from MP Pratap Simmha's office to enter Parliament, with Manoranjan reportedly obtaining the pass for the third time.

Although official directions for investigation from Central agencies or Delhi Police are pending, preliminary details about Manoranjan have been checked.

Sources mentioned that Sagar Sharma had been hosted twice by Manoranjan at his Vijayanagar Second Stage home, sharing meals with the family.

Neighbours described Manoranjan as reserved, frequently seen in the local park, always engrossed in his mobile, though reports conflict on his mobile phone usage, stating he never used one, and no gadgets were found in his home.

Sitting SC Judge must probe security breach: Congress

Mysuru, Dec. 15 (OSR)- The Congress party in Mysuru has intensified its criticism of Mysuru-Kodagu BJP MP Pratap Simmha, accusing him of facilitating visitor passes for the intruders who breached Parliament security on Wednesday.

Former MLA Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah has called for an inquiry into Pratap Simmha's actions, proposing his suspension and a thorough investigation.

Yathindra emphasised that the incident has instilled fear among the people, suggesting a significant security lapse and the potential for a larger conspiracy.

Congress leaders are demanding a probe by a sitting Supreme Court Judge, expressing a lack of faith in other investigative agencies, including the CBI, according to B.J. Vijaykumar, president of Mysuru District Congress Rural Committee.

KPCC spokesperson M. Lakshmana echoed the call for an inquiry by a sitting Supreme Court judge. During a press conference in Mysuru, Lakshmana urged Pratap Simmha to clarify the matter, questioning the silence of BJP leaders, typically prompt in responding to media queries. Lakshmana expressed relief that no member of the minority community was implicated in the security breach, speculating on potential exploitation by the BJP. He alleged that Manoranjan unofficially handled Simmha's social media account and called for thorough investigation into the incident, suggesting seizure of MP's office.

Simmha has three offices and that the arrested Manoranjan may have had meetings with the MP in either of these locations, said Lakshmana emphasised the national security implications and insisted on a Supreme Court judge leading the investigation.

Put brakes on wheelie stunts, use of cellphones by riders

Sir,

This is to bring to the notice of the Traffic Police authorities about the rampant violation of traffic rules by two-wheeler riders, especially in areas like N.R. Mohalla, Rajivnagar 1st, 2nd and 3rd Stages, Udayagiri and surrounding areas.

The rules and regulations of the Traffic Police are being given two hoots by people who fearlessly and carelessly use their cellphones, sometimes with one hand and sometimes with their head tilted over their shoulder as if they are the busiest persons in the world!

According to my estimate, almost one in three two-wheeler riders are using cellphones while on the move. This violation is going grossly unchecked, thanks to no action or vigilance by the Police.

Another offence going on rampantly for sometime now is the performance of wheelie stunts and other such dangerous acts. Most of these two-wheelers have no number plates in the rear and sometimes in the front also making it impossible to capture from CCTV cameras.

Recently an innocent passer-by was killed due to such dangerous stunts. As I have observed, these acts increase to a great extent on weekends and public holidays. Many of the miscreants even look underage.

Hence I request our Traffic Police to take strict action and carry out regular vigilance where such crimes are going on so that the offenders are brought to book and the other law-abiding commuters feel safe.

RTI activist NOT arrested

In the news item titled 'Blackmailing CNNL Managing Director Case: Court Dismisses RTI Activist's Bail Petition,' published in Star of Mysore dated Nov. 26, 2023 on Page-4, it was inadvertently mentioned that RTI activist Anand Mudaliar alias Anand M. The RTI activist has issued a clarification stating that he was not arrested and as he was voluntarily appearing for the enquiry, there was no need to secure an anticipatory bail for him.

'Urban Tigress' roams Mysuru border, forest staff adjusts tactic

Mysuru, Dec. 15 (MTY&KS)- The female tiger, separated from its mother and attempting to establish territory near the Mysuru border, is on the move, prompting the Forest Department to adjust its operation based on pug marks.

The 18-month-old female tiger cub has posed a challenge for the Forest Department, having been spotted in Chikkakanya, Doddakanya, Byathahalli and Sinduvalli regions for the past 20 days. Initially hiding in a sugarcane field in Doddakanya for about 10 days, the tiger cub is now migrating through Doddakanya to Dadadahalli, Kongananjayyanahundi, an abandoned agricultural field and a coconut farm in Beeregowdanahundi.

Forest personnel, responding to sightings, conducted a combing operation, discovering pug marks confirming the tiger's movement. Despite deploying drone cameras, the capture operation has been delayed due to the tiger frequently changing its hiding place.

The tiger cub, born in a reserve forest, is unfamiliar with the challenges of the forest area and has been preying on small animals in villages near the forest border, earning the nickname 'Urban Tigress.'

The Forest staff, working day and night, use the Wildlife Advance Alert System (WAAS) to alert villagers about the tiger's presence, emphasising the importance of preventing rumours and taking action against those spreading them.

The tiger is actively evading detection in a game of hide and seek, moving within the same area without being visually spotted despite being captured on camera. Teams are diligently working to tranquillise the animal upon sighting and facilitate its relocation, officers said.

The capture is anticipated soon; the tiger's swift movements suggest its agility. Importantly, there have been no incidents of cattle kill or attacks on humans since the tiger was initially spotted in the vicinity. Forest officials are employing bait to attract and tranquillise the tiger for a safe relocation.

Chief Conservator of Forests (Mysuru Circle) Dr. Malathi Priya, Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) Dr. K.N. Basavaraju, Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) N. Lakshmikanth, Range Forest Officer (RFO) Surendra, and senior Forest Officers are actively involved in the tiger capture operation on-site.

Advocates stir enters fifth day in city

Mysuru, Dec. 15 (MTY&BS)- The indefinite protest by advocates demanding the implementation of Advocates (Protection) Act in the State entered fifth consecutive day today.

The advocates, led by Mysore Bar Association President M. Mahadevaswamy, who boycotted the Court proceedings, staged a protest in front of Law Courts Complex on Krishnaraja Boulevard and raised slogans against the frequent attack on advocates, creating an atmosphere of fear among them.

Sources said, while Legislative Assembly has passed Karnataka Prohibition of Violence Against Advocates Bill during the ongoing Winter Session at Belagavi, it is yet to be passed in the Legislative Council. If the Bill sails through in the upper house of the Legislature, the protest will be called off, they said. Mysore Bar Association Vice-President Puttasiddegowda, Secretary S. Umesh, Treasurer H.S. Public co-operation must for maintaining law and order: City Police Commissioner

Mysuru, Dec. 15 (MK&KS) - "The co-operation of public is very much essential to maintain law and order situation in the society," said City Police Commissioner B. Ramesh.

He was speaking at a programme 'Walk of Police towards Public,' organised at Shivaji Park in N.R. Mohalla in the city on Wednesday.

The City Top Cop said that the Police would come to the rescue of public and solve their problems for which the public should also co-operate. Pointing out that there has been a rise in cases of minors indulging in wheelie stunts and becoming drug addicts, he asked the parents to be cautious and see to it that their children study well and are in good company.

"If children are corrected and guided in a proper way, issues that may create problems in the future can be prevented. It is very painful to see children dying due to performing wheelie and drugs, hence it is very important for the parents to take precautionary steps," the City Police Chief opined. Asking people to show humanitarian concern, he asked them to shift any person injured in an accident to the hospital first and not to neglect this humanitarian concern as it would help an injured see a new lease of life.

WORD OF THE DAY

Exhort

Pronunciation: ig-ZORT.
Meaning: To exhort someone is to try to strongly urge them to do something.
Origin: If you want to add a little oomph to your urge in speech or writing—and formal oomph at that—we exhort you to try using exhort as a synonym instead. Arriving in the 15th century from the Anglo-French word exorter, exhort traces back further to the Latin verb hortari, meaning "to incite to action, urge on, or encourage." Latin users added the prefix ex- to hortari to intensify it; in essence, exhortari is a succinct way of saying "to really, really urge." The Latin words adhortari (its meaning similar to that of exhortari) and dehortari ("to dissuade") also found their way into English as adhort and dehort, respectively, but neither of these remains in current use.
Example: "Now and again, the band pauses as the musicians praise and exhort each other. 'More cowbell.' 'Let's do it for timing, and then we'll break it down.' 'I would love a violin solo right there.' 'It's G minor, not B-flat?'" — Reed Johnson, The Los Angeles Times, 18 Aug. 2023.

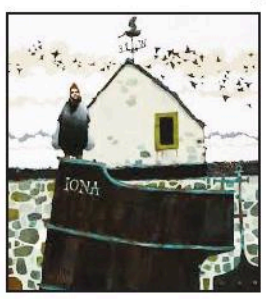
THE ODD WORD

Emesis

The act of vomiting.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

East, west, home's best



Meaning: This proverbial saying express the idea that, wherever you travel in the world, your home is the best place to be. It is a restating of the more familiar 'there's no place like home.'
Origin: This proverb isn't especially old. It first appeared in print in a collection of international proverbs by the English writer Walter Keating Kelly, Proverbs of all Nations, 1859. It appears that Kelly introduced it into English as a translation of an earlier German proverb: 'East and west, at home the best' (German).... Ost und West, daheim das Best.
The English preacher Charles Spurgeon used a variant of it in John Ploughman's Talk, 1869: East and west, Home is best.
